

Academic course 2021-2022

Teaching modality (possible models):

UCM will base its teaching activity on increasing face-to-face attendance, guaranteeing the health safety of the entire university community. Therefore, teaching will be conducted according to one of the three following possible scenarios:

- a) Scenario 0 (most likely in the second semester). 100% face-to-face teaching with no interpersonal safety distance.
- b) Scenario 1 (the most likely scenario in the first semester). Semi-face-to-face teaching, alternating/combining online and face-to-face teaching, respecting the interpersonal safety distance (minimum 1.2 meters).
- c) Scenario 2 (unlikely). Online teaching when the health situation makes it necessary to limit to this type of teaching due to a bad evolution of the pandemic or because it is necessary to isolate the class or it is not possible to access the University facilities.

The scenario may change during the course if the sanitary situation changes. If this happens, students will be notified 15 days in advance.

For more information, visit <https://psicologia.ucm.es/noticias/marco-estrategico-de-docencia-para-el-curso-2021-2022>